5/24-While awaiting the mail, I decided that instead of typing the notes of the recent trip and making larger stacks, I should file those of the trip more than a half-year past. This is a carbon of those typed by Lil from my terrible handwriting, hasty recollections written while I awaited people, planes and on planes. They are incomplete, but complete ones are on type but not transcribed. Fortunately, when the friend in Dallas said she'd transcribe I also used that beauty, aka TC40, and with her failure to have done this am not without them! On Os as an agent, this doesn't being to tell the story. Conf:Hudkins' source was Houston FBI, and Hudkins was sweated by FBIx in Sweatt's office. Two witnesses told me. Much more, but I think you may find this incompleteness interesting and an indication of what I could do if I could go there for a couple of months. When finished, and no rush at all, please return.
